I want to understand the project scope a bit better, which we will do on monday.

How can I help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?

I can help other members to learn the environment that we choose to do the project in.

What is my contribution towards the team's use of Scrum?

We as a group have come up with a meeting plan and a plan to create user stories and divide them into subtasks.

What is my contribution towards the team's deliveries?

We have as a group created a social contract for the project. I have also made a GitHub repository for our project.
